

The Power of Love is launched to celebrate the auspicious occasion of Her Majesty Queen Sirikit The Queen Mother's 87th birthday on 12 August 2019 and honours Her Majesty's work and dedication to various fields since her royal appointment as Queen in 1950.

This exhibition tells the story of Her Majesty Queen Sirikit The Queen Mother when she was young until she became The Queen Regent. Her Majesty Queen Sirikit The Queen Mother travelled with His Majesty King Bhumibol Adulyadej The Great on their official visits to all regions in Thailand. Her Majesty has fulfilled her desire to improve the well-being and happiness of the Thai people, having worked beside His Majesty King Bhumibol Adulyadej the Great for almost seven decades. With her hard work and perseverance, Her Majesty has tirelessly devoted herself to the betterment of her people, demonstrating the power of her genuine love for her people and the nation.

The Power of Love offers visitors the chance to view Her Majesty's most stunning attires and related accessories: handbags, hats, and handheld fans. The exhibition is further enriched by footages and photographs. The exhibition opens for public on 15 August 2019 onward in the 1st and 2nd galleries at the Queen Sirikit Museum of Textiles.

The Queen Sirikit Museum of Textiles, located in the Ratsadakorn-bhibhathana Building inside the Grand Palace complex in Bangkok, is opened daily from 9.00 a.m. to 4.00 p.m. (last admission is at 3.30 p.m).
